About APWA

APWA is the American Public Works Association, a national organization of public works professionals.

The event is put on by the Sacramento Chapter with public works musicians volunteering their time and talents. All bands have at least one member of an APWA-affiliated firm or agency.

The idea to hold a public-works-focused music festival came from Jeff Cox, an APWA member who realized several people in Public Works are also musicians.

The first festival was held in 2017 and 300 people were in attendance to see 5 bands. Each year the festival has grown and this year, we are excited to again host the largest number of bands possible for a one-day event.
